Motion to transform the three Senate seats currently reserved for assistant professors into three normal seats open to tenured and tenure-track faculty at any rank

In section 2 of the Constitution, change

“One member is to be an assistant professor in the School of Humanities or Social Sciences, elected by faculty holding tenured or tenure-track appointments in those Schools. If the elected member is promoted, he or she shall still serve the full elected term.

One member is to be an assistant professor in the School of Natural Sciences or Engineering, elected by faculty holding tenured or tenure-track appointments in those Schools. If the elected member is promoted...

One member is to be an assistant professor in the Jesse H. Jones Graduate School of Business, the Shepherd School of Music, or the School of Architecture, elected by faculty holding tenured or tenure-track appointments in those Schools. If the elected member is promoted...”

to

“One member is to be, and elected by, faculty holding tenured or tenure-track appointments in the School of Humanities or Social Sciences.

One member is to be, and elected by, faculty holding tenured or tenure-track appointments in the School of Natural Sciences or Engineering.

One member is to be, and elected by, faculty holding tenured or tenure-track appointments in the Jesse H. Jones Graduate School of Business, the Shepherd School of Music, or the School of Architecture.”

January 19, 2011: The Senate approved the motion to change the Constitution.